PREFACE.

THE Editor of the following ſheets, conſcious of the utility of a work of this nature, flatters himſelf that an apology for preſenting them to the public is unneceſſary: ſuch publications, when compiled with care and accuracy, are of acknowledged uſe to the trading and commercial world. Fully impreſt with this idea, he has ſpared no care or expence in order to attain the deſired point, but, ſo fluctuating is trade, that he is aware of the impoſſibility of making a work of this nature abſolutely perfect—the frequency of deaths, removals, partnerſhips commenced, others diſſolved, which no penetration can foreſee, or prudence prevent, renders it impoſſible to offer a work of this kiud to the Public free from error. But he aſſures them that he has anxiouſly endeavoured to procure an authentic and correct liſt of the inhabitants &c. how far he may have ſucceeded in this, a candid and indulgent Public will judge, and their approbation will be gratefully felt by

Their obedient Servant,

JOHN ROBINSON.

AN

Sheffield.

SHEFFIELD, or Sheaffield, a town of conſiderable note for its Manufactures, in the Deanery of Doncaſter, and Weſt-Riding of the county of York, is pleaſantly ſituated upon an eminence at the conflux of the Rivers Sheaf and Don; over each of which is a ſtone bridge.

That which is over the Don is called the Lady's Bridge, conſiſting of five arches, and leads to Barnſley to the N. and Rotherham to the N. E. and is ſuppoſed to be ſo named from a religious houſe, which antiently ſtood near it, and was dedicated to the Virgin Mary; which was afterwards converted into Alms-houſes for Poor Widows. This bridge was erected in 1485, for 100 marks; the town finding all the materlals: and was widened in 1762.

The bridge over the Sheaf, conſiſting of one arch, was rebuilt by Edward Duke of Norfolk, in 1769: and leads to Sheffield Park, &c. to the E.

The extent of the town from E. to W. and from N. to S. is about three quarters of a mile. It is 6 miles diſtant from Rotherham, 18 from Doncaſter, 13 from Barnſley, 36 from Leeds, 6 from Dronfield, 11 from Cheſterfield, and 162 from London.

THE CASTLE.

At the N. E. part of the town, where the two rivers meet, ſtood formerly a ſtrong Caſtle, of a triangular ſhape, guarded on two ſides by the rivers Don and Sheaf, having a ſtrong breaſt-work before the gates, which which were palliſadoed with a trench 12 feet deep, and 18 feet wide, full of water, and a wall round, five yards thick. This Caſtle, with the Lordſhip of Sheffield, was granted (as appears by an antient record) to Thomas Lord Fournyvale, 39 Edward 3, to be held by Homage and Knight Service, and a payment to the King and his heirs of two white hares yearly on the feaſt of St. John the Baptiſt.

It was ſurrendered, upon articles of capitulation, to the parliament forces, by Gabriel Hemſworth, Samuel Savile and Thomas Robſon, Commiſſioners authorized by the Governor, Major Beaumont, Auguſt 10, 1644: and was afterwards demoliſhed; ſo that there are very few veſtiges of it now remaining; except that ſeveral places in its vicinity ſtill retain the names of Caſtle-hill, Caſtle-ditch, Caſtle-fold, and Caſtle-green, &c.

RIVERS.

The River Don, which, being joined by the Sheaf, runs from hence to Rotherham, is is navigable within about three miles diſtance from Sheffield; and from thence to, and above the town, great numbers of works are erected upon it for the purpoſe of forging, ſlitting, and preparing the iron and ſteel for the Sheffield Manufactures; and for grinding knives, ſciſſars, razors, ſhears, &c.

The Sheaf too, tho' its ſtream is not ſo conſiderable, is, according to its ſtrength, employed in the ſame way to as profitable an account as the former.

TOWN COLLECTORS.

As a certain portion of ground or tenements in the town belongs to the Freeholders at large: ſo ſeven of them are appointed, under the title of Town Collectors, to grant leaſes, receive rents, and apply the produce of the Eſtate to public uſes; ſuch as lighting the ſtreets, &c.

THE COMPANY OF CUTLERS.

The Corporation here concerns only the Manufactory: and is ſtiled The Company of Cutlers of Hallamſhire. The Act for the eſtabliſhment of which was paſſed A. D. 1625: and an amendment in 1791. It is governed by a Maſter, two Wardens, ſix Searchers, and twenty-four Aſſiſtants. The Maſter is elected annually, on the laſt Thurſday in Auguſt, after having paſſed thro' the inferior offices.

CHURCHES.

Here are four places of public worſhip according to the Church of England, viz. Trinity Church, St. Paul's, St. James's, and the Chapel belonging to the Duke of Norfolk's Hoſpital.

Trinity Church, antiently called St. Peter's, which ſtands near the centre of the town, was erected in the reign of Henry I. It is a vicarage, and formerly belonged to the priory of Workſop, in Nottinghamſhire. The vicar's income chiefly depends upon the ſmall tythes, Eaſter offerings and fees for marriages, churchings and burials. The glebe being but ſmall, though lately improved.

The vicar has three aſſiſtant miniſters; who were firſt appointed, and a donation of land made for their ſupport, and other purpoſes, by Queen Mary, A. D. 1553. They are elected by Twelve Capital Burgeſſes (as they are ſtiled,) who are truſtees for the donation. The office of theſe aſſiſtant miniſters or chaplains, according to the grant, was to aſſiſt the vicar in Sacramentis et Sacramentalibus, in Parochiali Eccleſia Sheffieldienſis, et Parochianis bidem.

The church is a Gothic ſtructure, with a handſome ſpire in the centre: has eight bells; and a ſet of chimes, made A. D. 1773, by Mr. Whitehurſt, of Derby. It conſiſts, within, of a nave, two ſide ailes, and a large chancel. On the north ſide of the communion table is the veſtry and library: over which is a room, where the twelve burgeſſes before mentioned tranſact buſineſs relative to their truſt. On the ſouth ſide is the Shrewſbury Chapel; which contains the monuments of three Earls of Shrewſbury, Shrewſbury, of the family of the Talbots, viz. George the fourth earl, and his two wives, Anne the daughter of William Lord Haſtings, and Elizabeth daughter of Sir Richard Walden, of Erith, in Kent. He died A. D. 1538. * Francis the fifth earl, who died in 1559. George the ſixth earl, who died in 1599. On the arrival of Mary Queen of Scots in England, ſhe was put under the care of this nobleman, A. D. 1568, and ſo continued till 1584. Here likewiſe was interred Gilbert, the ſeventh earl of Shrewſbury, ſon of the preceeding, who died in 1616.

On the N. ſide the Chancel is a Mural Monument to the memory of Judge Jeſſop, and his Lady, of Broomhall near this town; and on the S. ſide is another to the memory of George Bamforth, Eſq. of High-houſe.

The moſt antient Epitaph now to be met with in this church, is upon a braſs plate near the north corner of the communion rails, in the following words:

Here

* See a curious account of his Funeral in Peck's Deſiderata Curioſa.

Here lieth Elizabeth doughter of Thomas Erle of Ormond
and Lore his Wyf somtyme
Wyf to the Lord Mountjoye which Elizabeth deceaſed
the XX day of February
the Year of our Lord MCCCCCX
On whoſe Soul then have Mercy Men.

At the entrance of the Chancel door of this Church was interred A. D. 1700, William Walker of Darnall, in this pariſh; who, from ſtrong circumſtances, there is reaſon to believe was the executioner of King Charles the Iſt.—See Gent. Mag. vol. 37, 548. vol. 38, 10. vol. 57, 759.

The Sacrament is adminiſtered at this Church the firſt Sunday in every month, beſide the great feſtivals. Here are prayers on Wedneſdays and Fridays, and all holidays at eleven and three; as alſo at ſeven every evening throughout the year; two ſermons morning and afternoon, and another at ſeven in the evening every Sunday; which commenced December 27, 1778.

St. Paul's Church is an elegant modern ſtructure in the Grecian ſtile. It was begun begun to be erected in 1720, but through ſome unhappy miſunderſtanding, was not conſecrated till A. D. 1740. It was founded through the benefaction of £. 1000 from Mr. Robert Downes, a Silverſmith, together with a liberal ſubſcription of many others in the town and neighbourhood; and was finiſhed in 1771. It has a Tower at the weſt end, with a Bell and Clock, preſented by Francis Sitwell, Eſq. and a good Organ, erected in 1755, through ſubſcription, by Mr, Snetzler. It is a Chapel of Eaſe to the Pariſh Church. The Sacrament is adminiſtered here on the fourth Sunday in every month, as well as on the great feſtivals; and there are two ſermons every Sunday.

ST. JAMES'S CHURCH is a handſome modern building erected, by ſubſcription, upon the Glebe belonging to the Vicarage, according to an Act of Parliament paſſed in 1788; and was conſecrated Aug. 5, 1789. It has an Organ built by Mr. Donaldſon in 1794. There are two ſermons here every Sunday, and the Communion every 2d Sunday in the month.

THE CHAPEL AT THE DUKE OF NORFOLK'S HOSPITAL, finiſhed A. D. 1777, the

(the foundation was laid September 24, 1774) in an octagonal form, was partly designed for the use of the Pensioners; who have daily prayers performed here by a Minister of the Church of England, and two sermons on Sundays; but it is not under episcopal jurisdiction.

DISSENTING MEETINGS.

Near St. Paul's Church to the N. E. is a Dissenting Meeting House, built A. D. 1700; another at a little distance below, erected in 1710; near to this a Methodist Chapel, which was opened June 30, 1780. In Queen-street, N. of Trinity Church, a Dissenting Meeting House was erected in 1784. There is another in Coalpit-lane, S. W. from St. Pauls; another in Howard-street, E. from St. Pauls, which was opened April 11, 1790; another in Back-lane, N. W. from Trinity Church; another in Scotland-street N. W. from Do. where the Liturgy of the Church of England is read, but is not subject to episcopal jurisdiction; and another Methodist Chapel in Garden-street. To the the N. E. of Trinity Church is a Quakers' Meeting Houſe; and in Norfolk-row, a Romiſh Chapel.

HOSPITALS.

On the eaſtern ſide of the River Sheaf, near the Bridge, is an Hoſpital, erected A. D. 1670, by Henry Earl of Norwich, great grandſon of Gilbert, Earl of Shrewſbury, in purſuance of his laſt will and teſtament, and endowed with divers eſtates.

March 3, 1770, Edward duke of Norfolk gave by deed £. 1000 for the augmentation of the ſaid Hoſpital; which ſum was applied by the Truſtees towards the building a new Chapel on the ſcite of the old one.

The Hoſpital conſiſts of two quadrangles, containing eighteen dwellings in each. It was originally deſigned for the accommodation of fifteen men and fifteen women, aged decayed houſekeepers; for each of whom was provided a houſe and garden, a penſion of two ſhillings and ſixpence a week, three cart loads of coals annually, two new ſhirts or ſhifts, a blue gown or looſe coat every ſecond year, and a purple gown and badge every ſeventh year. But, through the improvement of the eſtate belonging to this charity, three dwellings have been added to each quadrangle; and three men and three women penſioners additionally admitted upon the foundation; and, by a ſtill farther improvement of the eſtate, the truſtees were enabled to advance the penſions, at Michaelmas 1763, to three ſhillings and ſixpence, and of late to five ſhillings a week.

On the N. ſide of the town is another Hoſpital, erected in 1703, by Mr. Thomas Hollis, a merchant in London (who, it is ſaid, was a native of this town) for the benefit of ſixteen poor cutlers' widows. They have each a ſeparate habitation, and ſix pounds ten ſhillings a year, which is paid in ſome meaſure quarterly, two cart loads of coals annually, and a brown gown aad petticoat every ſecond year. Upon the ſame foundation four pounds a quarter is paid to a maſter for teaching forty boys to read Engliſh; and five pounds per annum to a writing maſter for inſtructing a number of boys during three or four of the ſummer months.

There

There is a good improveable Eſtate belonging to this inſtitution, which is under the management of 15 Truſtees.

About half a mile W. from the town was laid, Sept. 4, 1793, the firſt ſtone of a General Infirmary: towards which there have been ſubſcriptions and legacies to the amount of £. 18,000; and the building is in great forwardneſs.

CHARITY SCHOOLS.

At the N. E. corner of Trinity Churchyard is a Charity School for the purpoſe of cloathing, feeding, and inſtructing in Engliſh, writing, and accompts, poor Boys, from the age of 7 till 13. They are, in general, dreſſed in a blue uniform, with bands and caps, as is uſual in ſuch places. There are at preſent 54 upon the foundation. This charity was inſtituted in 1708: and is ſupported by annual ſubſcriptions, charity ſermons, collections, dividends of ſtock in the funds, and ſome ſmall rents.

At the N. W. corner of Trinity Churchyard is another Charity School, erected A. D. 1786, for the purpoſe of cloathing, feeding, and inſtructing poor Girls, in reading Engliſh, ſewing, knitting, ſpinning jerſey and line, and ſuch other acquirements as may qualify them to be uſeful ſervants. There are at preſent 50 upon the foundation. They are admitted at the age of 7, and continue till they are 14 or 15 at the option of the Truſtees: when they are hired out to proper places. This inſtitution is ſupported by annual ſubſcriptions, benefactions, charity ſermons, collections, &c.

Sunday Schools were firſt eſtabliſhed here in January A. D. 1785; and have been attended with very conſiderable moral utility. Above 800 Children, in different parts of the town, enjoy, every Lord's day, the benefit of this inſtitution.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

W. from Trinity Church is a Free Grammar School, the patent for which was granted by King James Ist: though, as appears from from a date upon the portal, the building was not completed till A. D. 1649. It has a head Maſter, who muſt be a Graduate in one of the Univerſities: and an Uſher. The head Maſter has a good houſe adjoining to the School. A little below the Grammar School to the N. is a Writing School, erected in 1721, where 60 poor Boys are taught writing and accompts, gratis.

ASSEMBLY ROOM, & THEATRE.

In 1762 was erected on the S. E. part of the town, in Norfolk-ſtreet, an Aſſembly Room and a Theatre, by the joint ſubſcription of about 30 of the Townſmen, whoſe ſhares, as proprietors, were transferable. The Theatre has been ſince taken down, and rebuilt upon a larger plan.

CUTLERS HALL.

On the S. ſide of Trinity Church-yard is the Cutlers Hall, where buſineſs relative to the Corporation is tranſacted. A building here was purchaſed in 1638, but the preſent ſtructure was erected 1726.

TOWN HALL.

At the S. E. corner of Trinity Churchyard is the Town Hall, built in 1700, where the town's affairs are ſettled, and the ſeſſions held.

MARKET.

Auguſt 31, 1786, a new Market Place was opened, containing an extenſive and commodious Shambles, with other conveniencies, erected by Charles, Duke of Norfolk.

Market days, Tueſday for corn and cattle, and Saturday. Fiſh market Monday and Thurſday. Two Fairs, on Tueſday in Trinity Week, and Nov. 28.

ASSAY OFFICE.

In 1773 an Act was paſſed for the eſtabliſhment of an Aſſay Office in Sheffield, and a houſe a houſe was hired in Norfolk ſtreet for that purpoſe. In 1784 an amendment was made to the Act, and in 1795 a building was erected in Fargate a ſmall diſtance N. from St. Paul's.

WATERWORKS.

A. D. 1697, Mr. Peter Whalley, of Nottingham, formed a ſcheme for erecting an engine near the lady's bridge for throwing up water from the river Don to the Barker-pool, for a ſupply to the town. Ground was accordingly fixed upon, and rented of the Duke of Norfolk, and an engine houſe built, but ſoon after the Projector died. After his deceaſe ſeveral of the principal Inhabitants of Sheffield adopted the ſcheme; but it was never brought into execution. In 1713 Meſſrs Goodwyn and Littlewood, formed a reſervoir at the White Houſe about a mile N. W. from the town; from whence a ſupply of water was derived, perhaps not diſproportionate to the ſtate of its population. In 1737 Meſſrs Joſhua Matthewman and Battie purchaſed a ſhare in the work: and in 1742 became poſſeſſed of the whole property, when ſeveral additional reſervoirs were made on Crookſmoor. In 1764 Mr. Joſeph Matthewman purchaſed Mr. Battie's ſhare. The works at preſent are in the hands of ſeveral Proprietors in partnerſhip; who, at a very conſiderable expence, have made very important improvements.

MANUFACTURES.

"From the town ſeal and other circum-
"ſtances, it is highly probable," ſays Harriſon, "that Sheffield has been the ſtaple for
"the Iron Manufactory, from the year 1297;
"eſpecially for falchion heads, arrow piles,
"and an ordinary ſort of knives, called whit-
"tles; but, in the proceſs of time, other ma"terial implements being invented, were "manufactured elſewhere. Sheffield and its "neighbourhood proſecuted the Cutlery
"trade, which conſiſted of various ſorts of "ſheath knives, ſciſſors, ſickles, and ſcythes.
"About the year 1600 begun an ordinary
"ſort

"ſort of tobacco boxes, and a ſilly muſical "inſtrument, called a jew trump. In 1638 "begun to make files, razors, &c. About "1650 claſp or ſpring knives began to be "made, with handles of iron, which in a lit-"tle time they covered with horn, tortoiſe "ſhell, &c. This century ſteel was made at "Rotherham, and brought here. In 1709 "began to have a Sermon preached at the "Cutler's Feaſt,"

Still, however, it appears that, during a conſiderable part of the preſent Century, the Sheffield Manufactures diſcovered more of labour than ingenuity—the Workmen durſt not exert their abilities for fear of being overſtocked with goods—their trade was inconſiderable, confined, and precarious. None preſumed to extend their traffic beyond the bounds of this Iſland; and moſt were content to wait the coming of a caſual trader, or to carry their goods with much labour and expence to an uncertain market; and it is well known that the chief produce of the manufactory was carried weekly by a few pack-horſes, Mr. Newſom's, to the Metropolis; the the Inhabitants viewing their paſſing up the Park-hill with the higheſt pleaſure.

About 50 years ago Mr. Joſeph Broadbent firſt opened an immediate trade with the Continent. In 1751 the river Don was made navigable to within three miles of the town, which greatly facilitated the conveyance of goods abroad. A ſtage waggon to London was ſet up by Mr. Joſhua Wright. Maſter Manufacturers began to viſit the Metropolis, as well as other parts of the kingdom, in ſearch of orders, with good ſucceſs. Several Factors now eſtabliſhed a correſpondence with various parts of the continent; and engaged Foreigners as Clerks in their compting houſes. The roads began to be greatly improved, and Britain and Ireland were explored in ſearch of trade. The Fairs, in different parts of the kingdom, annually decreaſed in their importance; becauſe ſhopkeepers could be eaſily ſupplied with goods at any time of the year.

PLATED

PLATED MANUFACTURE.

Buttons of braſs or copper plated with ſilver were made by Mr. T. Bolſover, about 50 years ago. But, about 1758 a manufactory of this compoſition was begun by Mr. Joſeph Hancock, an ingenious mechanic, upon a more extenſive ſcale, comprehending a great variety of articles; ſuch as tea urns, coffee-pots, ſaucepans, tankards, cups, candleſticks, &c. &c. Since that time, this branch has been purſued by various companies to great advantage; which has greatly contributed to the wealth and population of the town.

At the S. end of the town is a conſiderable work for the purpoſe of making white and red lead; begun about the year 1758. And at the N. end of the town was erected, about the ſame period, by Mr. W. Bower, a Silk Mill; which has ſince been converted into a Cotton work; burnt down Feb. 9, 1792, but ſince rebuilt, and now fully employed.

Here are alſo four public Breweries.

The

The firſt of which was erected near the Grammar School by Mr. John Taylor, about 1756.

POPULATION.

With reſpect to the population of the town, it is not eaſy to form an accurate account from the pariſh regiſter. For, tho' it ſeems to have been kept correctly: yet as it includes four Hamlets, or Diſtricts, exclu ſive of the townſhip of Sheffield, the town cannot, in this reſpect, be conſidered ſeparately. However, the following Summarywhich contains a comparative view of the marriages, baptiſms, and burials, at the end of every ten years, ſince the commencement of the Regiſter, is not unworthy of obſervation.

MEMORABILIA.

Chaucer, who lived in the 14th Century, in his deſcription of the Miller of Trumpington, ſays that "He wore a Sheffield Whittle in his hoſe."

1530.

Cardinal Wolſey, in his way to London from Cawood, got as far as George 4th Earl of Shrewſbury's, or Sheffield Manor, then called Sheffield Lodge, and there ſtaid ſome days. On November 22. he was taken ill at dinner, and ſent for a medicine from an Apothecary, which relieved him. But a flux ſucceeded; and he died November 29, after a three days journey, at Leiceſter Abbey.

It has been ſuggeſted that he poiſoned himſelf: But that opinion has been ably controverted by the late Dr. Pegge. See the Gentleman's Magazine, Vol. 25, P. 25.

Mary Queen of Scots, was in the cuſtody of George 6th Earl of Shrewſbury, at Sheffield Lodge. See Lodge's Illuſtration of Britiſh Hiſtory.

1587.

Robert Sanderſon, an eminent Divine, and Writer; Biſhop of Lincoln 1660, was baptized at Sheffield, Sept. 20, 1587. (Browne Willis—authenticated by the Pariſh Regiſter. See Zouch's edition of Walton's Lives.

1592.

This year the North front Gallery, in Trinity Church was erected; as appears by this date being deeply inſcribed upon a ſupporter at the E. end.

1598.

Gilbert Sheldon, born in 1598, ſon of Roger Sheldon, a menial ſervant to Gilbert 7th Earl of Shrewſbury, was made Biſhop of London in 1660; tranſlated to Canterbury in 1663; died in 1677. built the Sheldonian Theatre at Oxford, when he was Chancellor of the Univerſity. See Zouch's edition of Walton's Lives, Article, SANDERSON.

1621.

"A Brief, dated Sept. 26, 1621. was "ſent by the Archbiſhop of York to the "town of Hull, for the relief of French Pro-"teſtants, who fled to England on account of

"Mount Golgotha, where our Saviour had

"Britiſh Princeſs. But this was very coldly "received by the People, who thought the "count of the Spaniſh Match: and there "were but 5l. gathered on this unwelcome

"occaſion." Sheffield Pariſh Regiſter.

As to the former of theſe Briefs it appears that the Hugonots, were at that time in a ſtate of perſecution, and that many of them might probably take refuge in England, as they did after the revocation of the edict of Nantz.

With reſpect to the latter, the following Extract from Lithgow's Travels, evidently refers to it, and is an illuſtration of it.

"On Thurſday they viſited the place "where (it is ſaid) the Croſs grew on which
"Chriſt ſuffered, being reſerved by Greeks,

" who have a Convent built over it." Here Lithgow relates a ſtory of a knaviſh Greek, who came to London to beg a ſupport for the repairs of the decayed Monaſtery; and being entertained aud recommended by Gundamore, the Spaniſh Ambaſſador, a contribution was granted over all England. But Lithgow meeting this counterfeit Raſcal in Whitehall, and ſeveral Courtiers deſiring him to try whether this Greek had ever been at Jeruſalem, &c. he aſked where the Convent ſtood! He replied, " in Jeruſalem, and upon Mount Moriah:" which is falſe, it being three Engliſh miles from the city. Our Traveller alſo poſed him further about the ſituation of Jeruſalem, the ſize of its cloiſters, its church, the number of Friars, &c. &c. none of which queſtions he could anſwer, but ſtood quivering with fear and ſhame, having never been in Aſia, nor thoſe parts. Whereupon ſtealing out of the Court, he was no more ſeen abroad; for he had got at Court, and in the Kingdom above 1,200l. ſterling.

Auguſt 1. the Earl of Manchester, ſent Major General Crawford, and Col. Pickering, with part of his forces, viz. 1,200 Foot, and a Regiment of Horſe to Sheffield Caſtle. The Parliament forces being come near, fired three great ſhots, which did ſome execution in the Caſtle. Then they ſummoned them to ſurrender by a Trumpeter: but they ſhot at him three times, and brandiſhing their ſwords, cried out they would have no parley. Whereupon the Parliament advanced into the town, and lay there that night; in which, and the next day, they raiſed two batteries within 60 yards of the enemies outworks; whereon the ordnance began to play. But doing no great execution, and the Caſtle ſtanding out very reſolutely, they were obliged to ſend to Lord Fairfax for an Iron Demi-cannon. and that great Piece, called the Queen's Pocket Piſtol; which being brought and mounted, did the work ſo ſufficiently, that on the 10th of Auguſt the Garriſon beat a parley, and the following articles were agreed on.

Articles of agreement between the Commander authoriſed by Major General Crawford, and Major Thomas Beaumont, Governor of Sheffield Caſtle, for ſurrendering the ſame to the Right Honourable the Earl of Mancheſter, Article 1ſt. The Caſtle with all the fire-arms, ordnance, and ammunition, all their furniture of war, and all their proviſions, (except what is in the following articles) to be delivered to Major General Crawford, to morrow by three o'clock in the afternoon, being the eleventh of this inſtant Auguſt, without any dimunition or embezzlement.

Art. 2d. That the Governor and all the other Officers, ſhall march out of the Caſtle upon the delivery thereof, with their drums and colours, and each his own horſe ſaddled, ſword and piſtol, to Pomfret Caſtle or wherever they pleaſe, with a ſufficient convoy or paſs, for their ſecurity; the common Soldiers to their own home, or where they pleaſe.

Art. 3d. That all Officers and Soldiers, ſo marching out, on this Agreement, ſhall have liberty to carry with them their wives, children, and ſervants, with their own goods properly belonging to them, and ſhall have all convenient accomodation for carrying the ſame away.

Art. 4th. That the Lady Saville, and her Children and family, with her own proper goods, ſhall, and may paſs with coaches, horſes, and waggons, to Thornhill, or elſewhere, with a ſufficient guard befitting her quality, and without injury to any of their perſons, or plundering any of their goods, or otherwiſe. She, they, or any of them to go or ſtay at their own pleaſure, until ſhe or they be in a condition to remove themſelves.

Art. 5. That the Gentlemen in the Caſtle, being no ſoldiers, ſhall march out with each his own horſe ſaddled, ſword and piſtol, and ſhall have liberty to remove their goods, and to live in their own houſes, or elſewhere, without moleſtation: they conforming to the ordinances of Parliament, and they ſhall have protection from the Earl of Mancheſter and Lords. And all Officers and Soldiers, who chuſe to lay down their arms, ſhall have the ſame protection.

Art. 6. That the Governor, Officers, Soldiers, Gentlemen, and all others who are by this Agreement to carry their own goods away with them, ſhall have a week's time for removing the ſame: and in the mean time they are to be in the Caſtle, and ſecure from embezzlement: and this Article is to be underſtood of all ſuch goods as are at preſent within the Caſtle, or under the abſolute command thereof.

Art. 7th. That Kelm Homoe, now living in the Caſtle, ſhall have liberty to remove his goods into the town, or elſewhere, without moleſtation.

Art. 8th. That the Governor, Officers, Gentlemen, and all other Perſons, ſhall (according to the Articles abovementioned) march out without injury or moleſtation.

Art. 9. That Hoſtages, ſuch as Major Crawford ſhall approve, ſhall be delivered by the Governor, upon ſigning the Articles for delivery of the Caſtle, and ſafe return of the Convoy; which Hoſtages ſhall be returned.

ed ſafe, upon the performance hereof, unto ſuch place as they deſire.
